COMMUNITY

.dpi's website attracted over 15,000 visitors from all over North America and Europe in 2012. Our bilingual content appeals to a wide audience, and our readership increases steadily every year. The on-line journal is produced by Studio XX and is part of the community and associated network, including a Facebook page with over 1,500 fans.

In addition to our curated thematic issues, .dpi also maintains a regular blog with an amazing new team of bloggers writing critiques, exhibition reviews, and interviews and more. But there is always room for more voices and perspectives so get in touch with us if you want to write.
